Pull it apart

Detach the clipboard (screen) any time: it has its own battery, so you can draw or watch in comfort. Reattach when it’s time to recharge.

Here’s how
In the upper right-corner of the keyboard, select Detach ➤ wait for the Ready to Detach message, and then pull the top off.

A simple, powerful pen

Top button
What this button does depends on what you’re doing and how many times you click it.

- Click once to open Windows Ink Workspace, where you can create Sticky Notes, draw in the sketchpad, or take notes on a webpage or photo using screen sketch.
- Double-click to take a picture of your screen and open it in screen sketch.
- Click and hold to open Sticky Notes so you can jot down an idea before you forget it.
- Change what the top button does in Settings > Devices > Pen & Windows Ink.

Magnetic strip
Attach the pen to the side of your screen for safekeeping.
